LEGHORN, Septemb. 15. O. S.

THERE is Advice by a Brigantine from Tunis, that there has been an Action between the Armies of the Two Beys, after which the new Bey was obliged to retire to that City for Safety; that the Son of the deposed Bey was at Algiers, solliciting the Bey of that City, to send the Bey his Father some Succours; and that it was believed that this was the Reason why the Bey of Algiers was so pressing for the Annual Tribute from the new Bey of Tunis, threatening to side with his Adversary, if he did not pay it.

By the Report of Persons from Corsica, 3 Ships came upon the Coast of Aleria, said to have been separated by a Storm from two others that were in their Company. 'Tis given out, that the Baron de Neuhoff came in this Squadron with 12 Pieces of Cannon, from 18 to 21 Pounders, 36,000 Bullets, 5 Culverines of 18 Pounders each, and 400 Bullets, 6000 Muskets, 2000 Bayonets, 1000 large Muskets, 580 small ones, 2000 Pair of Pistols, 180,000 Pounds Weight of Gunpowder, 100,000 lb. Weight of Leaden Shot, 400,000 lb. Weight of Flints, 20,000 Pick-axes, and other Iron Tools for breaking Ground, 400 Casks with Iron Hoops, 400 lb. Weight of Balls, 4000 lb. of Copper, 30 Drums, one Kettle-Drum, 24 Trumpets, Cloaths for 200 Life Guards, 6000 Pair of Shoes, &c. 50 Colours and Standards, 6 great Chests of Copper, 4 of Pewter, 3000 Grenadoes charged, 700 wooden Shells charged, 80 Trunks, Chests, and other Bales, full of the Baron's Equipage, with a numerous Retinue. 'Tis added, that the said Baron found Means to circulate a Letter among the Malecontents, to acquaint them, that he was ready to go on Shore with his Ammunition, as soon as ever they sent him Hostages, for a Security that they still continued in their Loyalty; but that they took no further Notice of his Letter, or of his Arrival, than to send Advice of it to the French General at Bastia.

Sept. 16. O. S. We have received the following Particulars of the Baron de Neuhoff's Return to the Island of Corsica. The Baron arriving a Week ago off of Porto Vecchio, with three Ships carrying Foreign Colours, sent a Person on shore to deliver a Letter to the Chiefs of the Malecontents, wherein he told them, 'That the Affection he had for them, and the Engagement he had entered into to maintain the Justice of their Cause, had determined him to rejoin them; that he hoped to find the same Loyalty in them, and the same Attachment which they had sworn to him; that, nevertheless, he would not come ashore, till he was sure of their good Dispositions towards him; and that if they were not such as he hoped for, he would leave them to their own Destiny, and return immediately from whence he came.' To give the more Weight to this Letter, the Baron added a List of the Artillery, Arms and Ammunition, that were on board the three Ships; which List gave a sudden Turn to the Minds of the Malecontents. They judged it would be imprudent not to accept of the Ammunition, which might one time or other be of Service to them; and therefore the Chiefs returned Answer to the Baron, that they should be glad to see him. Upon this he went and landed at Campoloro, which is but a small Distance from Porto Vecchio, and there put ashore 24 Cannon, and 9000 Muskets, and a great Number of Bullets and Barrels of Powder. The Corsicans, to express their Gratitude to the Baron, cry'd out several Times, Long live our King Theodore. We are assured that the Baron afterwards caused an Edict to be published, exhorting the Malecontents to lay hold of the Opportunity of his Return, and of the Efforts he intended to make for the establishing them in a free Condition, independant of the Genoese. They add, that in order to give the greater Credit to this Edict, it begun with these Words, Theodore King, to our Subjects of Corsica, Greeting. But in what Manner soever the Malecontents have received the Baron, they are loth to believe at Bastia, that they will forfeit those Promises which they have made to the King of France, to whom they have sent Hostages for the Security of their Performance. The Ships with which the Baron came are returned home. Two others that came out in Company with them, but were parted by Stress of Weather, were expected every Day at Corsica with other Provisions. 'Tis confirm'd, that the Malecontents persist in their Refusal to lay down their Arms, so that the Troubles of that Island are far from being at an End.

ABO in Finland, Sept. 30. Yesterday there happened one of the greatest Storms that has been known here for a long Time. The Lightning fell on the Tower of the principal Church, and set Fire to it, as well as to the Timber Work, from whence the Flames reached to the Library, the Auditory, and the rest of the Building of the Academy, and the Whole was almost intirely reduced to Ashes. Several Lives have been lost by this Accident, which has also caused some Damage in the Streets next to the University.

LEGHORN, Sept. 23. O. S. All the Advices from Corsica, unanimously confirm the Arrival of Baron Theodore in that Island, with Provisions and Ammunition, but they vary as to the Transactions since. Some say, that several of the principal Men, intimidated by the Menaces of the French General at Bastia, had refused to join Baron Theodore, so that the Malecontents were were divided, and had formed themſelves into divers Parties: But other Advices affirm the contrary, and ſay, that General Giafferi, one of the principal Leaders of the Malecontents, was no ſooner informed of the Baron's Landing, but he went to the Sea ſide to receive him with a Retinue of 1000 armed Men; that he was ſaluted with the Acclamations of the People, and afterwards conducted to Corte, whither the principal Men of the Country repaired alſo to compliment him upon his happy Return, &c.

WARSAW, Sept. 30. O. S. Some Advices from the Frontiers ſay, that the Ruſſians have abandoned Oczakow, after blowing up its Fortifications; but for what Reaſon is not known.

PETERSBURG, Octob. 1. The Admiralty has ſent Orders to ſeveral Parts of the Empire to build, with all Diligence, ſeveral Frigates, and a great Number of other Veſſels, in order to make good the Loſs ſuſtained by the Ruſſian Flotilla in the late Fight with the Turks upon the Black Sea: Count Munich is impatiently expected here to aſſiſt at the Conferences to be held for taking the moſt effectual Method for opening the next Campaign with Succeſs, provided that the Negociations of Peace with the Porte, newly ſet on foot ſhould not take a favourable Turn. The Marquis de Villeneuve has wrote to Count Munich, that he has uſed his utmoſt Efforts to engage the Porte to conclude a Suſpenſion of Arms, and that he was in hopes of engaging it to content itſelf with the Reſtitution of Oczakow.

GIBRALTAR, Sept. 26. The Troubles which prevail in the Empire of Morocco every Day encreaſe: The various Competitors to the Crown of this Empire ſupport their Titles no other way than by Force of Arms; their Parties ravage the Lands of the Inhabitants who they expect to be of a contrary Faction. Theſe unhappy Circumſtances prevent the Peaſants from cultivating the Lands; ſo that the extreme Scarcity which prevails there is even felt here, moſt of the Corn uſed being brought from Barbary.

LEYDEN, Octob. 22. The Engliſh Students at this Univerſity having a Mind to ſhew their Veneration for the Memory of the celebrated Profeſſor Boerhaave, and their Joy to ſee this great Man reviv'd in the Profeſſors Albinus and Gaubius, made on the 14th an elegant Entertainment for that Purpoſe: In the Evening, the Houſe where the Repaſt was given was finely illuminated, and ſome pretty Devices were made to appear, which were deſign'd to honour the Memory of the deceaſed, and to compliment the two preſent Profeſſors.

DUBLIN, Octob. 3. The Right Hon. the Lord Howth hath lately diſcover'd a fine Marble Quarry on his Eſtate at the Hill of Howth. The ſaid Marble is as finely variegated with red, green, blue, yellow and other Colours, as any in Italy or Egypt. His Lordſhip hath already ſet up a very fine Chimney-Piece and Table of the ſaid Marble, which bears a finer Poliſh, and is much harder than any that comes from abroad.

We hear from Caſtle-Blaney, that on Sunday Se'nnight the Right Hon. the Lord Blaney was ordain'd a Prieſt, by the Right Rev. the Lord Biſhop of Clogher.

On Saturday Alderman John Macarrel was ſworn Lord Mayor of this City, and Mr. William Baker, and Mr. George Ribton, were alſo ſworn Sheriffs, for the enſuing Year.

We hear from Roſcrea, that on the 28th of laſt Month, Lieutenant Hume, of the Hon. Col. Campbell's Regiment of Foot, and Nephew to the Earl of Marchmount, was in a moſt cruel Manner murder'd at the George-Inn in that Town, in the following Manner: The Lieutenants being in Company with five Gentlemen, drank to one of them, ſaying, Friend here's to you, and the other reſenting rhe Freedom, inſiſted on Satisfaction for the Affront; but part of the Company interpoſing, at that time 'twas put up. Some time after the Landlord ſeeing Swords handed in at a Window, call'd Mr. Hume, and prevail'd on him to lock himſelf up in another Room, and ſent for the Guard, which immediately came, whereupon the Gentlemen drew their Swords, ſtabb'd two of the Soldiers, and drove the others out of the Houſe, then went and broke open the Door where the Lieutenant was, and ſtabb'd him in ſeveral Places, ſo that he died on the Spot. All thoſe who were concern'd in the Murder, found Means to Eſcape. The Coroner's Inqueſt ſat on the Body, and brought in their Verdict Wilful Murder.

LONDON, Octob. 13. On Friday Night laſt, an Heireſs of near 30,000 l. Fortune in the County of Suſſex, who is between 16 and 17 Years of Age, ſtole out of her Houſe at Midnight, (her Governeſs and all her Servants being faſt aſleep) and going out of the Garden back Door, was receiv'd by a young Gentleman, who conducted her out of Town in his Chaiſe: A ſmall Diſtance off ſtood a Coach and Six, with ſix Flambeaux, to attend them to another about ten Miles diſtant, which carried them farther, where they were married on Saturday Morning. It ſurpriz'd the whole Town; no Body thought they had the leaſt Acquaintance, ſo ſecretly had the Courtſhip been carried on. She left two Letters behind her, one for her Governeſs, the other for her Guardian, which much ſurpriz'd them both, when ſhe was found miſſing on Saturday Morning.

LONDON, October 12. Extract of a Letter from Ballycaſtle, in the County of Antrim, in Ireland, September 22, 1738.

Laſt Week Arthur Dobbs, Eſq; his Majeſty's Surveyor-General, arrived here, to view the Key and Colliery of this Place.

The Mole which is to form one Side of the new Harbour, intended for the more ready export of Ballycaſtle Coals, and encouraged by the Parliament of this Kingdom, is now conſiderably advanced, under the Care and Conduct of Hugh Boyd, of Ballycaſtle, Eſq;

Mr. Steers is the Undertaker of the Work, which was not begun till the Month of July laſt, yet is now carried almoſt 200 Feet into the Sea, by large Piles drove down at proper Diſtances.

The Mole, or Pier, is to be 40 Feet wide; the Length of it is not yet determin'd. Every thing hitherto promiſes well to complete a Deſign, which is judg'd will be of laſting Benefit to this Kingdom.

Not far from this Place is the Charter-School of Ballycaſtle, erected by the incorporated Society for promoting Engliſh Proteſtant Working-Schools in this Kingdom; who in Purſuance of his Majeſty's Royal Charter, and upon the Encouragement of Twenty Acres of Land given by the ſaid Hugh Boyd, Eſq; have erected a ſtrong convenient Building, capable of receiving 30 Children of both Sexes, tho' there are at preſent but 25 lodg'd in it.

They are all inured to Work, and Labour ſuitable to their Years, the Linnen Manufacture in its ſeveral Branches, is one great Part of their Employment. There are Rooms ſet apart in the Building, capable of receiving ſeveral Looms; and by an expreſs Article ſtipulated with the Maſter of the School, a ſkilful Linnen-Weaver is to inſtruct ſuch a Number of the Boys as ſhew a fit Genius for that kind of Work, in the Art of weaving Linnen-Cloth, ſpun by the Girls, out of the Produce of the Flax ſown on the Land, which has this Year been conſiderable.

Other Lads are employ'd in the Fields, and in dreſſing the Kitchen-Garden, which they have improv'd to good Advantage, by a plentiful Proviſion of Roots and Herbage for their Food, and a fair Nurſery of Quicks and young Trees for their Field Incloſures.

The Girls, by Rotation, ſhare the Buſineſs of the Houſe and Dairy, under the Direction of a careful and orderly Miſtreſs.

Both Boys and Girls, at proper Hours, are taught to read the Scriptures in the Engliſh Tongue; are carefully inſtructed inſtructed in the Principles of Religion, in which they have already made ſo much Proficiency, that many of them who could not ſpeak a Word of Engliſh, when they were firſt admitted into the School, can now read the holy Scriptures, and give a good Account of their Proteſtant Faith, laid down in the Church Catechiſm, in which they are publickly examin'd at the Church by the Miniſter.

Accordingly, Children of Papiſts and other poor Natives, Orphans and Fatherleſs, have been tranſplanted hither, from different Parts of the Kingdom, from the City and County of Dublin, from the County of Londonderry, and Colerain, and from the Glynns, the moſt popiſh and remote Part of this County; and when it is obſervable, that the very Looks, as well as the Behaviour of theſe Children, are now ſo much alter'd for the better, that they ſeem to be other Creatures, you muſt not wonder that both they and their Parents daily pour out their Prayers, for a Bleſſing on all thoſe who have been the uſeful and kind Inſtruments of their Preſervation and Happineſs.

Newport, Rhode-Iſland, January 13.

We are informed by a Letter from Block-Iſland, dated the firſt Inſtant, to the Hon. John Wanton, Eſq; our Governor: That a large Ship of about 300 Tons, was caſt away on ſaid Iſland the 26th of December laſt; ſhe was very Rich, reckon'd to be worth 20,000*l.* Sterling; ſhe came from Rotterdam laſt Auguſt, but laſt from Cowes in England, having on board 400 Palatine Paſſengers and Servants bound to Philadelphia; but having a long Paſſage near 200 of them died while on it, the Remainder came on Shore, and 20 of them are dead ſince they came on the Iſland.

Their Captain, whoſe Name was Long, died in the Paſſage, and his Mate took the Charge of the Ship as Captain and Commander, after the ſaid Long's Death; and he being often deſired by ſome of the Gentlemen of the Iſland, to ſuffer the Paſſengers to take their Goods out of the Ship, he abſolutely refuſed it; tho' many of them ſaved their Silver and Gold: Tho' all poſſible Means were uſed to prevent clandeſtine Actions, many have loſt by Extortion and otherways, a great Part of the little which they ſaved.

After the Ship broke to pieces there were abundance of Goods came aſhore, but the Owners cannot have any of them, without paying a third Salvage, beſides which a great Part of them are confiſcated, together with great Quantities of Silver and Gold: In ſhort, Tongue and Pen cannot relate the preſent Circumſtances of the poor Palatines, whoſe Number is ſaid to be but only Eighty Five Perſons.

Upon this melancholy News our Governor ſent a Magiſtrate and other proper Officers to Block-Iſland to ſee how Matters are, that thoſe poor People may have Juſtice done them.

January 19. Laſt Tueſday Night arriv'd here Peter Bouſe, Eſq; with the reſt of the proper Officers that were ſent by our Authority to Block-Iſland, to inſpect into the Affairs of thoſe poor diſtreſſed People the Palatines, by whom we are informed as follows:

That the Ship, mentioned above, ſtranded upon Block Iſland, being chiefly owned by Perſons belonging to Ramſgate in England, and commanded by George Long, left Plymouth ſometime in Auguſt bound for Philadelphia, with about 400 Palatines on Board, which they took in at Rotterdam: That an exceeding bad Fever and Flux prevail'd among them: That but about One Hundred and Five were landed upon Block-Iſland; and that ſince their Arrival there, their Illneſs continuing, the Number is reduced to about 90. Capt. Long, with ſeveral of the Mariners, died on the Paſſage. The chiefeſt Reaſon aſſign'd for ſo great a Mortality, is the badneſs of their Water taken in at Rotterdam in Caſks that had before contain'd White and Red Wines. The Hull of the Ship (which had no Cargo in belonging to the Owners of her) together with the chiefeſt Part of the Goods of the Palatines are entirely loſt in the Sea; great Care has been taken by the Authority, that what is ſaved may be ſecured for the Benefit of thoſe ſurviving diſtreſſed People, many of whom it is ſaid left their Country, purely to enjoy their religious Privileges in America.
